

RED SKIES GOALS AND PROCESSES

The official Salem State e-zine as conducted by the Professional Writing program in the English Department, Red Skies is advised by professors Perry Glasser and Regina Flynn. In AY 2008-09, Red Skies published approximately 175 works by students from 8 academic majors.

Red Skies teaches team-collaboration and professional editorial process as an extra-curricular activity.

It is not a required class open to students in a single department. It is not a showcase for creative writing.

It should be borne in mind that “writing” is taught in every humanities class. Red Skies does not teach writing, but is dedicated to teaching leadership by actively engaging students in leadership positions.
